

7.9 Cooperation with Investigations

If situations arise that require an investigation, the Company requires employees' full cooperation in an investigation. All employees are to cooperate in such an investigation (excluding issues arising under the National Labor Relations Act) and are expected, as a condition of employment, to fully do so. This may include submitting to searches of your personal property. This policy is for the protection of all employees.

Revised August 2024